

SECOND SKIN

You're not yourself. You're what it wears.

LOGLINE

At a high-fashion desert shoot, a haunted jacket begins mimicking its wearers, consuming their identities from the inside out. To survive, Zara must stop performing and start remembering who she is.

Short Synopsis

Zara, a rising Black stylist, discovers the "statement piece" she pulled for a major fashion shoot is an artifact of mimicry and possession. As her team begins unraveling, mirrored, replaced, or erased, Zara must reclaim her identity before the entity fully becomes her.
