

GRANNY'S HOUSE: HOME FOR THE HOLIDAYS

Genre: Holiday Family Comedy

Format: Feature Film (90 minutes)

Tone: Friday meets This Christmas with a sprinkle of The Clark Sisters and a slap of sweet potato pie.

LOGLINE:

When her grown daughter and grandkids show up unannounced just days before Christmas, a no-nonsense Atlanta matriarch must wrangle chaos, church drama, and a flaming sleigh, all while learning that the messiest families make the most meaningful holidays.

SUMMARY:

Set in Atlanta's historic West End, Granny's House follows GRANNY GLORIA JACKSON, equal parts prayer warrior, cornbread queen, and certified front-porch menace, who's planned a quiet Christmas full of Mahalia Jackson records and no foolishness. That plan goes up in holy smoke when her daughter RENEE, a single mom in crisis, lands on her doorstep with two kids, bags of groceries, and a whole lot of emotional baggage.

As TikToks go viral, a gospel Jubilee looms, and glitter begins to stick to everything sacred, Granny finds her orderly world transformed by messy joy, unexpected healing, and a front-yard sleigh that nearly burns the house down. What starts as a holiday hostage situation becomes a season of reconnection, revelation, and red velvet redemption.

THEME:

Family isn't about perfection, it's about showing up, falling apart, and loving each other through the mess. Sometimes peace looks like glitter in your greens and grace showing up on your porch in mismatched socks.
