

IT'S SOMEBODY YOU KNOW

Genre: Crime Thriller / Domestic Suspense (Feature Film)

Format: 99-minute TV Movie (Lifetime/BET+ compatible)

Tone: Emotional • Tense • Suburban Noir

LOGLINE:

When her daughter's best friend is found dead, a widowed former detective discovers the murder is tied to her late husband's unsolved case — and to a web of corruption inside her daughter's school. As she digs deeper, she must confront a community that would rather protect its reputation than its children.

THE STORY

Renee Bishop, a former detective turned single mother, tries to keep life stable for her daughter Maya. But when Jordan Cook, Maya's best friend and the beloved school counselor, is murdered, Renee's instincts flare. Jordan left behind a journal, a USB drive, and cryptic notes implicating someone inside the school board.

As Renee investigates, she discovers that her late husband Alan was following the same trail before his death. The deeper she goes, the more the neighborhood closes ranks. PTA queen Cass Hill and Detective Shaw work to discredit her, while Maya becomes caught in the crossfire, even uncovering evidence with her own name on it.

At the school's community vigil, Renee forces the truth into the light. But just as she and Maya take a breath, a chilling message arrives: "You think it's over?" revealing that the conspiracy runs deeper than she ever imagined.

WHY IT WORKS

- Female-driven thriller with emotional stakes and mainstream appeal
 - Fits seamlessly into the Lifetime, BET+, OWN suspense drama slate
 - Combines domestic drama + true-crime pacing + social relevance
 - Multi-generational story with strong roles for Black actresses
 - Built-in potential for sequels or anthology under the theme "Somebody You Know"
-

VISUAL STYLE

Moody suburban noir. Evidence boards, dim kitchens at night, PTA meetings with smiling masks, glowing cell phones in the dark. Warm daytime family scenes contrasted with cold, shadowy investigation sequences.

Comparables: Big Little Lies, Mare of Easttown, Seven Seconds, Secrets of a Marine's Wife.

CONTACT

NCCA ENTERTAINMENT

Created by Kelly R. Tenney

NCCAENTERTAINMENT@GMAIL.COM
