

FLIP SIDE OF LOVE

When love survives the edits.

FLIP SIDE OF LOVE

A romantic dramedy about love, legacy, and the stories that live in the walls.

Written by: KRT

Presented by: NCCA Entertainment

Format: Feature Film

Genre: Romantic Dramedy

Setting: Atlanta, Georgia (West End)

CONCEPT OVERVIEW

Flip Side of Love is a smart, soulful romantic dramedy set against the backdrop of a reality TV home renovation show. It follows a TV producer and her ex-boyfriend-turned-contractor as they restore a historic home in Atlanta and with it, unearth buried truths about a hidden Black legacy and their own unresolved past. With sharp banter, emotional depth, and cultural resonance, the story blends renovation drama, romantic tension, and a meaningful exploration of ownership of property, history, and love.

THE STORY

Kendra Blake, a sharp, ambitious producer, returns to Atlanta with something to prove. She's launching a new renovation series, hoping to use the project as both a career relaunch and a personal redemption arc. But on Day One, she's hit with a twist the network didn't tell her about: the contractor assigned to the job is Dez Carter, her ex.

Dez, stoic and grounded, was once the man Kendra thought she'd build a future with. They broke up years ago after she left Atlanta for her career. He stayed behind, loyal to his roots and his father's business. Now, thrown back together on camera, their chemistry is undeniable, even as tension simmers beneath every nail and blueprint.

As the cameras roll and the network pushes for drama, something unexpected happens. While prepping the foundation, Dez and Kendra discover a sealed crate beneath the floorboards. Inside: photos, letters, and blueprints revealing that the house was designed and built by Solomon Minor, a Black architect forced to work under a white man's name due to Jim Crow laws. The house had served as a community hub, feeding kids, protecting families, and educating neighbors during the Civil Rights era.

Kendra and Dez begin to shift focus. Their show, initially built around modern aesthetics and profit, becomes a mission to honor this hidden legacy. But the network has other plans, amplifying their romantic past, packaging the historical discovery for clickbait, and threatening to exploit both the home and its story.

Now, Kendra must fight for the narrative, of the house, of her voice, and of her future with Dez. As they finish construction on a reading nook Solomon Minor once sketched for the community's children, Kendra realizes she's also rebuilding the parts of herself she thought she left behind. In the end, it's not just the house that gets restored. It's their ability to stay.

STRUCTURE

ACT I: Reintroduction and Collision

- Kendra returns to Atlanta; determined and tightly wound.
- Discovers Dez is the general contractor, her ex she never got closure with.
- Their history simmers under every design decision. Sparks and sabotage begin.

ACT II: Discovery and Turning Point

- They uncover a crate filled with historic materials tied to the original Black builder.
- The story of Solomon Minor re-centers the renovation around legacy.
- Dez begins to open up. Kendra reflects on her past choices.
- Network pressure intensifies, demanding a glossy, romanticized version of the story.
- Kendra starts to push back. Dez quietly takes a stand.

ACT III: Restoration and Reclamation

- Kendra confronts the network on set, refusing to package the house's history for ratings.
 - Together, she and Dez complete the library nook Solomon once dreamed of.
 - They host a community reveal honoring the past owners.
 - Kendra pitches a new series: Hidden Blueprint, focused on untold architectural histories.
 - On the porch, she and Dez finally share a real, quiet kiss, not for show, but for them.
-

MAIN CHARACTERS

- Kendra Blake (34) – A perfectionist producer who masks vulnerability with control. Deeply principled beneath her polish.
 - Dez Carter (35) – A quiet, emotionally grounded contractor. Once hurt by Kendra's ambition, now ready to speak.
 - Marissa James – Kendra's quick-witted producer best friend. A truth-teller who holds the line between hustle and heart.
 - Ty – Dez's fun-loving, emotionally intelligent best friend. Brings comic relief and deep perspective.
 - Miss Lorraine – The community elder. See through everyone. Protects the house's history and nudges hearts where needed.
-

TONE & STYLE

- Visual: Warm lighting, golden-hour shots, tactile textures, sunlight through dusty beams, restored wood, family photographs.
 - Tone: A slow-burn blend of wit and emotional honesty. Rooted, grounded, intimate.
 - Style: Think The Photograph meets Fixer Upper by way of Queen Sugar.
 - Music: Soulful and modern, Cleo Sol, Leon Bridges, Solange, H.E.R. underscoring moments of vulnerability and hope.
-

THEMES

- Second Chances – In love, in purpose, in reclaiming stories left behind.
 - Legacy & Erasure – Who gets to be remembered? And who gets to tell the story?
 - The Cost of Control – Kendra's journey from curating everything to surrendering to what's real.
 - Home as Identity – The house becomes a mirror, showing who they were, who they are, and who they could become.
-

WHY NOW

In an era defined by gentrification, digital storytelling, and performative narratives, Flip Side of Love is a powerful reminder that some stories deserve more than exposure, they deserve respect. It's a celebration of love, legacy, and doing the hard work to get it right, both in relationships and in restoration.