LOGLINE

When a struggling Atlanta painter is mistaken for a reclusive art world legend during a violent heist, she's thrust into a web of stolen identities, high-end corruption, and cultural erasure, only to discover the woman who stole her work also orchestrated her downfall. Now, she must reclaim her name before it disappears for good.

PROJECT SUMMARY

The Proxy is a stylized psychological thriller that blends identity-driven storytelling with the glossy veneer of the fine art underworld. With emotional resonance and elevated genre mechanics, the film explores the power of authorship, the weaponization of invisibility, and what it truly means to be seen.

Set against the visual palette of modern Atlanta, the story moves between low-wage diner shifts and glass-walled galleries, fusing Black female interiority with art-world espionage, in the spirit of Widows, Killing Eve, and Passing.

KEY CHARACTERS

- Monique Davenport – A gifted but invisible artist and mother fighting to reclaim her stolen legacy.
 - Bianca St. James – A seductive, sociopathic gallerist who builds her empire from stolen stories.
 - Cassandra Bell – A principled FBI agent who once lived in Monique’s shadow—and might be her last lifeline.
 - Jordan Rivers – A former cop with a personal vendetta against Bianca—and secrets of his own.
 - Jaylen Davenport – Monique’s 10-year-old son, the soul of the story.
