

SECOND SKIN

SECOND SKIN

Genre: Supernatural Horror / Psychological Thriller

Format: Feature Film

Tone: The Neon Demon meets The Witch, with echoes of Black Swan and Hereditary

LOGLINE:

On a remote desert photo shoot, a rising model becomes the target of a shape-shifting spirit that mimics her identity. As her crew disappears and her reflection begins to rebel, she must reclaim her name or vanish beneath a second skin.

ONE-LINE CONCEPT:

What if the very thing meant to elevate your image... began to erase your soul?

THE WORLD:

Set against the brutal beauty of the New Mexico desert, SECOND SKIN unfolds at a remote fashion shoot plagued by cultural appropriation, broken technology, and ancient forces that feast on forgotten names. The desert doesn't haunt, it reflects.

THE HOOK:

- An Indigenous curse unearthed through fashion greed
 - A monster that doesn't chase, it copies, it waits
 - Identity horror told through mirrors, mimicry, and the fashion world's obsession with perfection

THEME:

SECOND SKIN is about identity, erasure, and the horror of being seen but never known. It's a story of reclamation: of voice, self, and spiritual lineage.

CENTRAL CHARACTER:

ZARA (24) – A poised, emotionally bruised model whose body has been treated like a canvas by others her whole life. She must decide if she wants to be the woman the world sees, or the one she’s never had the chance to become.

ELI (30s) – A cynical photographer haunted by lost artists. He sees beauty in truth and terror in repetition.

GABE (60s) – A desert mystic and cultural gatekeeper. He warns them early: “Make sure your shadow matches.”

VISUAL STYLE:

- Mirage-like lighting and wide desert vistas
- Cracked mirrors, distorted reflections, and unsettling slow-motion mimicry
- Fashion meets folklore: elegant costuming clashes with primal ritual

TARGET AUDIENCE:

Fans of psychological horror, A24-style genre films, and elevated Indigenous storytelling (e.g., fans of The Witch, Midsommar, or The Wind).
